Now That Christmas Draws Near

We're wishing you a happy Christmas. Never before in our two decades of existence has "Peace on earth, good will towards men" meant so little to the world.

No bright Christmas lights adorn the streets and homes of European cities to-day. No Christmas bells will "ring out the tidings of great joy." No childish shouts of delight will greet holiday fruits and candies on Christmas morning in the lands across the sea.

European cities are more rigidly enforcing blackout regulations to prevent holiday bombings. The fog of odors which settles over the cities reminds one of holiday firecrackers, the contrast being one in results alone. Air raid warnings and the roar of bombers overhead bring tidings of approaching devastation.

But we "safe and sane" Americans are thankfully free of mid-night air-raids and orders to evacuate—free to enjoy our Christmas in our own homes and in the presence of those we love.

The Johnsonian is wishing that you will enjoy the completeness of your family group during this holiday season and that the next Yuletide will find the whole world united in Christmas peace and happiness. — E. C.

Wedding and Dance Close Dixie Tourney; Forensic Winners Named

Announcement of Dixie finals brought down the curtain on the three-day forensic meet December 5-7 which brought to the campus over 200 representatives from 28 southern colleges.

Janie Ward, representative of Winthrop, and John Fleming, University of Florida, representative of the visiting colleges, were united in a symbolic wedding Friday evening in the new auditorium. After the union of forensic relationships symbolized by the wedding, the cake cutting was held in Johnson hall, followed by the second of Winthrop's dances conducted by Pauline Lave, chairman of the dance committee. It was a card dance, with 15 dances, both Cunningham, editor of The Johnsonian.

Guests at the cake-cutting and dance were Dr. and Mrs. Elliott Phelps, Dean Kate G. Hardin, Mrs. Mary Cline, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Chappell, Dr. Ruth Bourne, Miss Ruth Rollings and Miss Mary MacDonald.

Freshmen To Edit A Johnsonian

Freshmen journalists will have a chance to put out an issue of "The Johnsonian" all by themselves. It was announced this week by Elizabeth Cunningham, editor of The Johnsonian.

Early in the second semester, according to Editor Cunningham, who will be in charge of the project, all interested freshmen will be given tryouts to choose about 30 girls for the staff. After a training period of a few weeks, the staff will organize and take over The Johnsonian for one issue, both editorial and advertising.

The project is intended to supplement and strengthen the old try-out system by which journalistic talent was discovered and Johnsonian staff personnel was recruited.

"The Guiding Star" Opens Pre-Christmas Season

Angeline Towill, center, as Mary; Margaret Wessinger, left, as Joseph; and Caroline Marion, right as Angel of the Star, head the cast in "The Guiding Star."

"The Guiding Star," a nativity play in five scenes done in dramatic action with accompanying music, will be presented by the Y and the Winthrop chorus at 6:45 Sunday evening in the new auditorium. The role of Mary will be taken by Angeline Towill, Joseph by Margaret Wessinger, and the Angel of the Star of Bethlehem by Caroline Marion. The supporting cast includes 28 students.

The play, written by Esther Willard Bates, is directed by Maude Ward, chairman of the Special Meetings Committee. Dr. Hampton Jarrell is faculty advisor, and F. D. Peter directs the Winthrop chorus. Miss Jeanette Roth will be at the organ.

Miss Florence Mims is faculty director and chairmen of assisting committees are as follows: Anne Wise, costumes; Dorothy Edwards, setting and properties; and Sara Ellen Cunningham, lighting.

A silver offering for the Red Cross will be taken at the door.

Naturalist Contest Opened By Forestry Commission

A contest open to South Carolina colleges and university students is being sponsored by the South Carolina State Commission of Forestry to inform students of the possibilities in the State Parks for nature study and to encourage these students to do work in this field.

The competition, entry for which will close January 1, 1941, will serve a threefold purpose. It will point the way for those interested in leadership and guide them in their training. It will give a better understanding of the nature recreation possibilities in the State Park areas, and by so doing guide the Commission of Forestry to a true conservation policy for each area involved. It will also advance an opportunity for a variety of subjects for Theses for graduate work in colleges and universities.

The ten best exhibits and reports adjudged best by the judges will entitle the contestants to a position as State Park Naturalist at $60.00 per month during June, July and August in one of the South Carolina parks.

Each contestant will be required to file with the commission on or before April 1 the following exhibits:

1. A season's program in outline for a nature recreation program for the park selected.
2. A plan for a major park tour on bike.
3. A report and plan of a self guiding nature trail.
4. An outline of publicity which the contestant plans to bring the season's nature program before the people.
5. An exhibit of the contestants nature craft collections.
6. A list of materials needed to carry on the season's program.

For further information concerning the contest see Miss Mary Calvert.

Twenty-two Added to Debaters

Seven girls were issued bids to Pi Kappa Delta and 15 to Strawberry Leaf, national forensic societies, as announced by Cloy Lawrimore, president of Debaters League, at the Dixie Wedding Friday night.

Receiving bids to Pi Kappa Delta on the basis of outstanding work in debating and other forensic activities are Winifred Louse, Sarah Patterson, Mary Keaton, Bernice Olesiepie, Frances McMahon, Betty Richardson, and Hilda Lott.

Strawberry Leaf announcements are made for outstanding work in the field of debating. The 15 who received bids were Minerva Walden, Janet Pfeiffer, Rose Cannon Hancock, Janie Herndon, Margaret Padgett, Ethel Butler, Frances McGowan, Bernice Stroup, Anne Heister, Erlene McNeill, Elberta Wiles, Frances Ayres, Elizabeth Beaman, Annie Belle Graham, and Eulalie Lake.

According to Cloy, initiation will be immediately after the Christmas holidays.

Glee Clubs To Present Program

Winthrop's three glee clubs will present jointly the chapel program on Wednesday. They will be conducted by Lloyd C. Bender, P. Darrell Peter, and Miss Jean Clark.

Mr. Bender's glee club will sing "The Shepherd's Song" by Dickinson and "Carol of the Bells" by Borovik. Miss Clark's glee club will sing three Slovak carols, "Slumber Song of the Infant Jesus" and "Gloria to God in the Highest" by Pergolesi. Mr. Peter's chorus will sing a chorale "Good News from Heaven" by Bach, "Angels Over the Fields" a traditional French carol, and "The Omnipotence" by Schubert.

25 Study at Night Under AAUW Plan

Approximately 25 people are entering the winter study groups being sponsored by the American Association of University Women open to all interested persons. The groups led by Winthrop faculty members are held in Johnson hall on Monday and Thursday nights.

Dr. Russell holds classes in Spanish.

Carnegie Library Given P.T.A. Proceedings By Mrs. Leonard

A set of proceedings of the South Carolina Parent-Teacher Association has been presented to the Carnegie Library, according to Mrs. J. J. Dacus.

The gift was made by Mrs. Paul H. Leonard, state president of the association, who is a graduate of Winthrop, and a sister to Miss Besse Harper of Aiken.

Cunningham, Coggeshall Head Johnsonian

Elizabeth Cunningham of Wiltont and Nancy Coggeshall of Darlington were appointed editor and managing editor of the 1941-42 Johnsonian by Ray A. Furr and the retiring staff executives this week.

Executive staff appointments by the new heads have made Margaret Brice of Greenwood, associate editor; Peggy Howell of Laurens, news editor; and Catherine Bailey of Shelby, N. C., sports editor.

Elizabeth, a rising senior, succeeds Betty Richardson of Summerson as editor. She has been a member of the Johnsonian staff for two and a half years, and has been a member of the news board this year. She was secretary of her sophomore class, member of Press club, Zeta Alpha, Deutche Gesellschaft, and Percaps and Seapals. Elizabeth also is a marshal.

Nancy, a rising senior, will succeed Sylvia Noss of Denmark as managing editor. She has served on the Johnsonian editorial staff for one and a half years. She is treasurer of Student Government, a member of Writer's club and Press club.

Margaret Brice, rising senior from Greenwood, has been chosen associate editor. Margaret has served on Y cabinet, the P. S. A. council, is chairman of the campus committee, and has served on the Johnsonian staff for two and a half years as a reporter and a member of the news board. She succeeds Elizabeth Culppeper.

Peggy, a rising senior, will fill the office of news editor, a new position created out of the news board formerly created by Elizabeth Cunningham, Nancy Coggeshall, and Margaret Brice.

This Week

By Betty Fannin

Really, There's Something There. The college girl finds out that the word parallel applies to a lot more than a line, but, being honest with herself, she will thank heaven that with a little forewarn and persuasion she has widened her reading scope somewhat.

Going Christmas? Economically restrained, we who are about to "sink" over the question of Christmas gifts will welcome the little book "The Scribble-In Book" that is the ideal solution for poetry-collecting friends.

In The Usual Way

Those who can't resist the pleading of a roommate "please bring me a surprise" when the trip to Charlotte or to town, coming to the home, home, something for the room, something for the desk or a tick-tock. But Does It Save Nine? As one of the greatest things to come to the rescue when the group suddenly forgets, and that comes just must be written, Roger's "Treasures of English Words and Phrases" is the often to time.

FRESHIES TO HAVE EDITION CHRISTMAS BEGINS IN EARNEST

Dr. Wheeler provides a copy for his poetic class but is a good thing for everyone to know about.

Merely a Suggestion

If you're tired of the best sellers and Chaucer, try a biography. That wizard of finance Alexander Hamilton wouldn't be a bad start.

David Loh gives a good account of him in very entertaining modern lingo.

In This Issue

Campus Town Hall covers the first student opinion on the political question, "How's about a chapter of 'Young Democrats'?" The library offers a display of suggested books for Christmas presents. "The Guiding Star," Y Christmas play, will be given Sunday evening. Winthrop Alumna publishes a book of verse. "Togs and Trappings" plays Emily Post and urges more orderly post office traffic. Here and There keeps up with the Winthrop femmes. English majors will have an opportunity to be on the listening end when Dr. Wheeler presents a poetic interpretation of Sir Launfal. Student teaching assignments made for 32 seniors. Johnsonian will be headed by Cunningham and Coggeshall. Debaters add 22 members.

Reading With Salt. If you have no favorite news analyst, Walter Lippman's syndicated column "Today and Tomorrow" has won many a follower. But be careful how you digest him. Use a sprinkle of salt.

Not Don't Caricature

It caught short for place cards for any special event, try clipping the "face" from a snap-shot and drawing a figure to fit the face. It's no end of fun and will certainly bring out the originality in you.

The Easy Way. With the all too rapid approach of Christmas a roundup of many duties presents itself. One very necessary item erases itself gracefully. Christmas card retelling at a "buck" per half-hundred with your name already signed. All you've got to do is stamp 'em.

Toward Keeping Up

Not a plug for the local gazettes but a veritable treasure-house of advice so we say—read your daily paper. If necessary, swallow that last sip of coffee a little more hurriedly and cut corners and make straight for the dormitory office where the news is at your service. On The Radio. With permission to change a little the old proverb, we come off with "familiarity breeds interest." Reserve a part of your Sunday afternoon for the "Pulse that refreshes hour." The proverb applies to violinist Albert Spalding who is one of the guest artists. The musical program has as much variety as Heinz's 57.

It Always Does

Continuing the "familiarity" idea, Hudson Strode's "Bernuda," takes on new fascination since we have had the pleasure of meeting and being talked to by the author.

President 'Dot' Extends Greetings

In this age of commercialized Christmas sentiment there are many beautifully phrased messages of Christmas cheer, but the simplest and most beautiful, I think, is the old goodwill message of "Merry Christmas." To this entire student body of which I am a part I wish the merriest of Merry Christmases.

Dorothy McGowan, President, Student Government Association.

Simmons on Biology Club Program

Ruth Simmons spoke on "Medicine In Colonial Days," and Maude Gladstone and Jean Clarkson talked on "Superstitions in Medicine" as a meeting of Tri-Beta had, Tuesday afternoon in Johnson hall.

Plans were made to have last year's graduates of Tri-Beta back as honor guests at the snack this week-end.

Pimento cheese sandwiches, cookies, and coffee were served.

The Campus Town Hall

A Forum For Dissemination of Campus Opinion
By MARGARET BRICE

Students think well of 'Young Democrat' club . . . with reservations . . . Reader urges 'Bundles to Britain' aid.

Winthrop follows in Clemson's footsteps as talk goes around the campus of the founding of a chapter of Young Democrats. With permission for installment still unobtainable, a Johnsonian survey was made to find out what the students want. In almost every case they were in favor of the organization, but often they made their approval conditional. They don't want a dead or unnecessary organization, but they are willing to support a vital, purposeful, efficient, necessary, successful organization. They agree on the need, but they are wary about student interest. Yet the survey indicates an unusual amount of that, showing that their fears possibly may be groundless.

Here are the findings on the question: Are you in favor of having an organization of Young Democrats on the campus?

Amelia Alverson says: "I think it's a pretty good idea."

Georgia Clark expresses the opinion of the minority: "I'd rather join a Republican club and support Willie next time."

Polly Merrill isn't exactly sure about the Young Democrats, but she thinks: "If it has to do with a closer union between Clemson and Winthrop, I'm for it."

Becky Fogle would like to be a member because she thinks: "It's very important organization."

Anne Gardner confesses: "I didn't go to the meeting, so I don't know much about it."

Betty Richardson says: "The club is to teach us more about the Democratic party, of which we are members, and the politics of our state, and to help us become better voters when we take part in community life after college. I approve."

Elizabeth Jordan is one of those before she speaks. She considers "The thinking about it."

Clara Barnett is not a believer in parties. She insists that the vote should be cast for the man rather than the party, but she thinks: "Since most Southerners are Democrats, I think they should know more about the party."

Virginia M. Black, another disclaimer, says: "If being a Democrat means following Roosevelt, I'm out."

Jane Ballinger, agreeing with

Felix Morley, maintains: "As future citizens and voters we need to know more about the issues that our local state, and national governments are confronting. We have seen what has happened to other nations because individuals did not accept responsibility."

Erna Beaman thinks it would be a good idea to have the organization: "So people can find out more about the party and talk more intelligently."

Anne Harvey agrees: "It would be a pretty good idea for us to learn more about voting."

Edna Cantrell is all for it. She says:

"Billie Hicklin answers: 'Yes.'"

Sophia Nichols approves: "We need such an organization because we as future voters need to know what is going on so that we may help 'clean up' politics."

Speck Wilson says: "I think it would be wonderful."

Helen Witt thinks it would be well worth the time if it would present information that people would not get otherwise. She predicts: "It would be a benefit to the nation not now but in years to come."

Bea Moss answers in the affirmative because: "The majority of us need a more definite knowledge of our party's policies."

Virginia Stevenson replies: "Yes I think it would be beneficial in building up future Americans."

Ruth Kahner feels that it would be a good thing since: "We've got to enter into public affairs sooner or later, and there's no time like now."

Virginia Campbell is straight to the point: "I am in favor."

Dot Edwards approves because: "It would help us feel more a part of this thing we call democracy."

Kitty Foster answers: "I surely am."

Frances Carville thinks it would be a good idea, but she makes a condition: "If we would go into it earnestly and honestly, seeking to make ourselves more intelligent voters—to vote according to our belief rather than our heritage."

Urges Campus Support of Britain

THE JOHNSONIAN:

Since the beginning of the battle of Britain many citizens in this country have expressed their desire to help the British people check the destruction of the way of life which both our peoples have come to enjoy under democratically administered governments. To materialize such desires an organization called Bundles for Britain was formed, and with its organization innumerable opportunities for constructive help to the British were afforded people of the

All of us unquestionably despise war, not only for the conditions actual strife brings, but also for the conditions which inevitably follow. Now that war is actually upon us, we are confronted with the pros and cons of aiding the suffering people of the warring nations. That gentle "quality of mercy" impels us to offer a helping hand to those heroic men and women who are fighting for ideals common to both British and Americans, in the hope that by such help we may prevent the war's being so prolonged and, hence, so devastating. It is for this purpose of constructive ministrations to the war-weary British that Bundles for Britain functions. Its contributions, including surgical supplies and equipment for mobile and stationary units, warm clothing for both civilians and those in military equipment, and blood for transfusions, are made in an attempt to relieve suffering rather than create destruction.

We should be thankful for the privilege of doing anything we possibly can to help lessen the privations which now exist in England and those which will come during continued air raids and cold weather.

Winthrop students will be proud and happy, I am sure, to cooperate with Rock Hill's newly organized chapter of Bundles for Britain. There is much to be done, but—as someone has said—"A mile from many people will be able to change that spelling to might."

Yours most sincerely,
Virginia M. Black.

Library Science Class Makes Book Display

A trip to the reading room in the library will solve your problem of what to give your younger brother or sister for Christmas.

A section of Miss Nancy Day's library science class has made a display of attractive books suitable for all ages. Bibliographies with annotations have been mimeographed for use by those interested.

Inexpensive books which can be bought at the ten cent store make up one side of the display, while on the other side the more expensive ones ranging from 50 cents to two dollars can be found.

Everyone is invited to stop by and see the books, some of which have been best sellers for children.

Sextet, Debaters In Second WBT Program
In the second weekly radio program over the CBS network from station WBT in Charlotte, the sextet was heard in a group of songs, two of which were arranged by J. D. Watson of the music department. One of the selections, "America the Beautiful," was composed by Mrs. J. A. Patterson Wagoner of Clinton, S. C., coincidentally made its radio debut. After the broadcast Mrs. Wagoner telephoned her thanks to the sextet and complimented Mr. Watson on his sextet arrangement of her song. The other number was the spiritual, "Little David."

Other selections were: "When Twilight Weaves," by Beethoven; "Branscombe," "Thou Beaming Eyes," by Edward McDowell; and "At Twilight," by Rudolf Primm. Mary Gardner accompanied the sextet at the piano. Miss Lawrence and Pauline Lane of the Debators League gave brief resumes of the Dixie Tournament held on the campus last week, and announced the winning debaters.

Next week the sextet will sing Christmas carols of Czech and English origin.

Punk, boner, rib-tickers, and general hilarity proved to be the human interest angles to the Dixie Tournament. There may be a difference of opinion but these are just a few of the wiles brainstorms of the local and visiting wits.

For instance, there was the courtous silence that filled Johnson hall when the supposed radio announcer informed the group that President Roosevelt would speak at that time. The silence was broken by one of the visiting debaters poured forth with "My friends . . ."

The journey brought to one Winthrop inside two days during the Christmas holidays. She's going to Washington and New York, and in both places, there'll be a debater.

The group included DeWand Britain, who led the vespers discussion on "What Influence Does Christian Youth Have Today?" Dan Hollis, Edna Holmes, Carol Gustaf, Mary Larman Bedenbaugh, and Miss Elizabeth Blinson.

The deputation group met with the Y cabinet at 7:30 to help plan a University Christmas Mission which the Winthrop Y. W. C. A. plans to sponsor in February.

Polly McGill was chief cook for the supper.

Members of the Carolina Deputation group were entertained Sunday evening with a turkey supper given by the Exchange Committee of the Y and the Y Cabinet. The Curry society room of Johnson hall.

The room was lighted by tall red candles thrust into rose apples as holders. A centerpiece of evergreen and silver pine cones decorated the table.

Ed Club Sees Movies of Camp Life at Juniper

Miss Betty Brooks, head of Recreation in South Carolina, was guest of the Elementary Education Club at their meeting last Thursday.

The program, which was held in the lecture room of Tillman hall, was a moving picture of camp life at Camp Juniper near Cheraw. Miss Brooks explained the pictures as they were run off.

Since most of the counselors at Camp Juniper were Winthrop students, all physical education majors and those who had attended the camp were invited to attend.

Masquers Study Lighting, Curtain Supervision

Each member of Masquers is now being taught stage lighting and curtain management according to Maude Ward, president. Interest groups have been formed and discussions planned on these topics for girls who are interested.

Masquers, the campus dramatic society, meets every first and third Thursday in each month at 4:30 in the Green room of Johnson hall and a member is automatically dropped from the roll if she misses three meetings during the year.

The society presents two performances each year—the fall performance, always given in November 30, which usually consists of three one-act plays and the spring performance which is a single three-act play. Each member of Masquers is allowed to try out for parts in these plays.

Miss Florence A. Mims is faculty adviser for the group.

Editorial Commentary

Casually.

BY ELIZABETH CUNNINGHAM

"Lib" Cunningham

"Taking Up"

A strange desk is not the ideal place to begin writing a column, but new editors have to begin somewhere. So if allowances may be made for such circumstances, here comes a column that will hardly be a worthy successor to the ably-written "Casuals that have been", but an honest effort just the same.

Winthrop's headquarters this week have been in Memphis, Tennessee. Occasion—the annual meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary schools of which Dr. Phelps is secretary.

A Place in The Sun

Five members of the administrative staff are in attendance, and what they bring back from this meeting should be highly beneficial to our institution. Too, we like to know that our college is being represented at such get-togethers and subsequently recognized by southern educators and educational institutions.

Another Dixie tournament is just a memory now, and the last evening dress has been put away until Christmas packing begins. From all forthcoming comments, sighs, and happy heavings, the tourney was, forensically speaking, a wonderful success.

Further Proof

But the Dixie of 1940 will be remembered on the campus as a success by more than the members of Winthrop's Debaters League by further proving that dances can—and do—work at Winthrop. Our congratulations to Pauline Laye and her committee who made it the smooth-running and thoroughly-enjoyable affair that it was.

Winthrop is back on the air, and this time it's in a program that everybody can hear—afternoon labs or no. It is broadcast at 7:30 every Monday night over WBT in Charlotte, and although the program is designed to let people throughout the state know what is happening at Winthrop, we'll wager that every Winthrop girl can now learn something of campus activities by way of radio. It's really something to write home about too, because papa and mama sometimes get queer conceptions of Winthrop life from our hastily-written letters and holiday ejaculations.

We Winthrop girls are being neglected. We admit that it seldom happens, but now we believe we do have reason to complain. The results of the usual between-class dashes to the post office have recently begun to bear brightly-colored "stickers" with small red crosses on them.

May We Help Too?

But sadly enough, nothing of what slides into the narrow slits in the Winthrop P. O. under "outgoing letters" have on them these familiar Christmas seals.

We aren't selfish—we just can't help it. We Winthrop girls would welcome an opportunity to do our part in helping tubercular patients throughout the United States back to health. Could not these tubercular Christmas seals be offered for sale on the campus? (Ed. Note—Seals are now on sale.)

Sosnowski Soloist For Orchestral Concert Tonight

Winthrop College's Symphony orchestra will present a concert this evening at 8 o'clock in the college auditorium. Elizabeth Sosnowski of Waumalak Island, S. C. will be the soloist and Emmett Gore will conduct the program. No admission will be charged.

The scheduled program will be Symphony No. 11 in G Minor by Haydn, Adagio-Allegro, Allegretto, Minuet, Finale-Rondo; Concerto in B Minor by Saint-Saens, first movement—Allegro non troppo—with Elizabeth Sosnowski as soloist; Waltz, "Tales from the Vienna Woods" by Strauss, Overture from "Poet and Peasant" by Suppe.

The personnel of the orchestra is first violin: Elizabeth Sosnowski, Eleanor McDermid, Elizabeth Hilton, Elinor Niven, Wilhelmina Stuckey, Margaret Fant, Louise Scott, and Sara Carmichael. Second violin: Doris Stevenson, Betty Ann Davis, Euna

Briefly of People and Things

Visit Thurmond Hall

The Mecklenburg county home economics teachers, accompanied by Miss Virginia Ward, their district home economics supervisor inspected Thurmond Hall last week. Three instructors from the home economics department of the Agricultural and Mechanical College for negroes in Orangeburg were also shown the building by Miss Sarah E. Cragwell.

Pop Meet

The annual pep meet which was delayed because of bad weather, will be held at the beginning of the basketball tournament in February, according to Peavy Kneese, president of the athletic association.

Phys Ed Club At Shack

The members of the Physical Education club spent last weekend at the shack. After the spaghetti supper, the group returned to the college campus for the Saturday evening show.

Miss Julia Post and Miss Alice Hayden were guests of honor at the supper.

Scouts at Lockwood's. Members of the Girl Scout troop met Friday and Saturday at the home of their leader, Miss Emma Lockwood, to make Christmas gifts for the poor.

The gifts being made by the troop consist of toys for the children and clothing for both children and adults.

Episcopal Party Saturday Night. The annual Episcopal Christmas party will be held in the Student center tomorrow night from 9:15 until 10:15.

Sarah Justice is general chairman. Sarah Barwell, assisted by Suzanne Wilson, Eliza Spiers and Pat Dargan, is directing the program. Mary Harper and Elizabeth Canham are issuing invitations and Edwina Barr has charge of the decorations.

Cragwell to Ashwood. Miss Sarah E. Cragwell spoke on the connection of home economics with Christmas in the home at the Mother-daughter banquet given by the Junior Homemakers association of the Ashwood project, near Bishopville last night.

Freshmen Class on Hay Ride

One of her freshman sections of home economics is planning a hayride, for the near future, according to Miss Sarah E. Cragwell, head of the home economics department. The girls will use one of the college trucks filled with hay and will ride out to Catawba dam where they will cook midweek stews.

Go to Greenville

Misses Julia Post, Cameron Caney, Margaret Lea, Alice Hayden and Marion Fugitt, of the physical education department, will attend the upper district meeting of the State association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation in Greenville tomorrow.

Episcopal Give Peyton Few. Through donations from the Episcopal girls, Episcopal teachers and alumnae, a few in the chapel of Transfiguration at Panaga has been dedicated honoring the Reverend Peyton, rector of the church of our Saviour in Rock Hill.

Landrum, Buttrill to Clemson. Miss Lomly I. Landrum, state home demonstration agent, and Miss Martha Buttrill, extension nutrition, from the extension home demonstration department will attend the state nutrition committee meeting to be held at Clemson tomorrow.

The committee will discuss and work out plans for the coming year.

Watson Soloist With Choir. Jack Watson was the soloist Sunday morning with the A.R.P. church choir. The choir is directed by Mark Biddle.

Three Sing At Euphonia Meeting. Helen Hutto, Nan Sturgis, and Anne McMichael will sing at the Christmas meeting of the Euphonia club at the home of Mrs. I. B. Cautlin in Cherry Park Thursday afternoon. They will be accompanied by Mary Garner.

Roth Plays in Charlotte

Miss Jeanette Roth played on an organ recital given before the Charlotte Music club Monday night.

Bender's Glee Club To Sing. Lloyd C. Bender will conduct the glee club in a Christmas program at the First Baptist church on Sunday.

Sing At Circle Meeting. Anne McMichael, Carolyn Guse, and Katherine Gierri sang at a circle meeting at St. John's Methodist church last Monday afternoon.

They were accompanied by Emily Beebe.

McMichael, Sturgis Sing. Ann McMichael and Nan Sturgis sang "O Holy Night" by Adams at the Lancaster Choral society concert last Sunday night.

The Rock Hill Choral society assisted in the program.

Keith Called Home. Dr. Warren G. Keith has been called home to Upton, Kentucky because of the illness of his mother.

Pierians Meet Today. The Pierians will meet this afternoon at 4:30 in North parlor. President Mabel Hornsby urges that all members attend.

Three Choral Groups On Christmas Program

Musical talent of three choral groups from Rock Hill and one from Lancaster combined to bring many expressions of enjoyment to the faces of an audience of more than a thousand at the annual Christmas concert in the Winthrop auditorium last Sunday afternoon. The Rock Hill High School chorus and the Winthrop Training School chorus, directed by Mrs. Rosa B. Guess and Miss Jeanette Arterburn, the Rock Hill choral society, and the Lancaster choral society, directed by W. B. Roberts of Winthrop, joined forces to present the program.

Dr. R. A. MacFarland, pastor of the First Baptist church of Rock Hill, pronounced the invocation and the benediction, and midway in the program Miss Florence A. Moss gave two Christmas readings.

The program was "Lo How a Rose E'er Blooming," Prætorius; "Norwegian Cradle Song," arranged by Luvas; "Joseph Came Seeking a Resting Place," Willoughby, all sung by the high school choruses directed by Miss Arterburn; "Christmas Bells," Osgood; "Hark, Now, O Shepherds," Moravian-hymns; "Sing We All Noel," sung by the choral societies under Dr. Roberts.

"The Choralists," by Bontalan, and "O Sing Unto the Lord" were sung by the high school choruses led by Mrs. Guess. "Hark, Hark, Hark, Hark, Hark," and "Sleep Baby Sleep," both Czech carols; "Hark, Bethlehem," a Polish carol; and "While by Our Sleeping Flocks We Lay," a 19th century carol were sung by the choral societies.

The grand finale was the Hallelujah chorus from Handel's "Messiah" sung by the entire group of more than 200 voices led by Dr. Roberts. Pianists for the event were F. Darrell Peter and Miss Ermine Wilford, and Miss Jeanette Roth played the organ.

Campusin'

With
Nancy Coggeshall

Nancy Coggeshall

It may be for the British or it may be for HIS Christmas present—no matter what it's for, it's knitting! At first it was a time-passer; then a fad and now we've gone crazy on the subject. In fact the campus motto is now "Ten more knitting days until Christmas." And the campus prayer, "Please let me finish this sleeve in time."

Myrtle Smith we think it was who finished her sweater and had some wool left over. She knitted one mitten; now she's hoping there's enough yarn for the second.

And Margaret Byrd who added wrong and ended up spending five dollars for an angora scarf!

Carolyn Guesse takes the cake, though, when she attends every entertainment where the lights are left on in hopes of finishing a row on her "British" sweater.

We'd heard about poetry notebooks. We'd even seen a few—and liked them—so we decided to take a closer look. We looked, and we stayed on second floor North for two hours looking. We felt silly that night and skipped all the sentimental stuff; but if anyone would like to read some more serious verses, just holler—and we'll see what can be done.

Letty Walker has a whale of a book with everything from popular song lyrics to Tennyson. Poetry is her hobby.

"I may be mistaken in my reason,
But by the stars above
I'd hate to meet the hound
If this is puppy-love."

Why, Letty, we didn't know it was that bad.

And Kitty Rahner's collection contains this verse about the weather:

"Spring has sprung,
Fall has fell,
Winter's come,
It's cold as ice."

Suzi Wilson's scrapbook gives the life and love history of Winthrop's heart-breaker for three years. But wouldn't all those boys who ask Suzi to football games and dances be surprised if they knew how she really feels about men?

"Women's faults are many,
Men have only two—
Everything they say,
And everything they do."

Mary Margaret Phillips just gave us her copy of Dorothy Parker and invited us to sit down. We hit on one which seemed good advice to have on hand during Christmas:

"By the time you swear you're his,
Shivering and sighing,
And he vows his passion is
Infinite, undying—
Lady, make a note of this:
One of you is lying."

"Bumsteads" Entertain

Last Friday evening "The Bumsteads," one of the "families" of the eighth grade home economics class entertained friends with a dinner party followed by a dance in the home economics room of training school.

F. A. L. Debate in Chapel

The query, Resolved: That the Nations of the Western Hemisphere Should Unite in a Permanent Union" was debated in chapel Wednesday by the senior F. A. L. The government was led by Anne Barrow, the opposition by Louise Culp, and the back-benchers by David Williams.

P-T. A. Meets

The Parent-Teachers Association of Training School heard leaders of the various scholastic organizations discuss their activities at the December meeting Wednesday in the kindergarten room.

How to Wedding

Miss Louise Howe, librarian, attended the wedding of Juanita Sherman, Winthrop graduate of '35, who was married to James Marston last Saturday evening in Iva.

Football Banquet

The annual football banquet for this year's players and their dates will be held tonight in the recreation room. In charge of the program are: Dick Williams, Andy Westergard, and Bill Barron. On the finance committee are Walter Jenkins, Ed Byars, and Fred McPadden. In charge of decorations are Ernest Carroll, Jack Cox, "Bunny" Marshall, Harold Marshall, Ed Byars, Jerry Pursley, Charles Pursley, George Anthony, Carlisle Moore, Watson Matthews, Leroy Pettit, Ralph Brown, and Sammy Chiles.

Basketball Games

The basketball season opened Monday night in the college gymnasium with games between the eighth and ninth graders, and the tenth and eleventh graders. The games continued through last night when the championship game was played. The name of the champion team could not be obtained before The Johnsonian went to press.

Dorian Music Club Meets Tuesday

Martha Newton spoke on current works, and Nell Wollung presented a paper on Bach at a meeting of the Dorian Music club last Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the music hall auditorium.

The musical part of the program was "Come Unto Him" (Handel) by Louis Birthing; "Bowtie" (Bach-Strauss) by Agnes Mayes and two chorals, "All My Heart Thine" by Nell Wollung, "Bach" and "From Heaven Above to Earth I Come" by Nell Wollung.

Wheeler Will Present "Sir Launfal"

The Y sponsored poetic interpretation of "The Vision of Sir Launfal," to be presented by Dr. Paul Wheeler, Wednesday at 7:45 in the new auditorium will include the following parts:

Part I
Prelude: Sir Launfal Starts upon His Quest.
Part II
Christmas Time—Dream and Adventure.
Part III
The Soul's Awakening.
Dr. Elizabeth Harris is in charge of the musical background, Miss Florence Miles, the stage background, and Elizabeth Mitchell, the stage lighting.

Wofford Chosen President of Press Club

Martha Wofford of Greenwood was elected president of the Press club at a meeting Friday night in the Johnsonian office. It was decided that one officer was all that would be needed because of the small membership of the club. Plans for a page in the annual were discussed, and it was voted that the meetings be held on alternating Friday nights.

The twelve girls in the Press club are Sylvia Ness, Betty Richardson, Elizabeth Culppepper, Rosanne Quers, Martha Wofford, Caroline Anderson, Mary Claire Pinckney, Jean McNairy, Elizabeth Cunningham, Nancy Coggeshall, Morrell Clifton, and Medoras Lunn.

Wesley Players to Present One-Act Play "Let Every Heart"

The Wesley players will present a one-act play, "Let Every Heart" Wednesday evening at 7:30, in the auditorium of St. John's Methodist church according to Nell Wollung president.

The story centers around two young matrons, Elva, played by Caroline Baber, and Mrs. Carver, played by Kathryn Jett, are confined to a hospital ward for the Christmas holidays. Both are unhappy because they are out of the rush of Christmas, but before the end of the play all their difficulties are ironed out.

Latin Group Hears Reports On Africa

Members of Eta Sigma Phi, honorary Latin fraternity, gave a program on "Roman Remains in North Africa" at a meeting held Tuesday afternoon in the apartment of Dr. Dennis Martin.

"The Story of Carthage" was given by Martha Mace; "Carthage and Christianity" by Arminia Langston; and "Remains of Roman and Punic Carthage" by Nell Ecker.

After these reports, refreshments were served.

National Lutheran Student Worker Come To Campus

Dr. Mary E. Markley, national Lutheran student worker, spoke on "The World Student Christian Service Fund" at the regular meeting of the Y cabinet Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 in Johnson hall.

Dr. Markley has traveled in Asia, Africa and Europe, and has written several books on modern youth problems. She visited the campus through the Grace Lutheran church of Rock Hill.

Math Club Sees Films Thursday

Six films recently produced in England were shown yesterday at the meeting of the Archimedeans at 4:30 in the lecture room in Tillman hall. All of these films treated the subject of Applied Mathematics, particularly with emphasis on mechanics, aviation and navigation.

Presiding and discussing the films were Dr. Ruth Stokes and Dr. Elizabeth Hazard. They were sent for preview because they are the films Dr. Stokes will show at the national meeting of the mathematical societies in Baton Rouge, La. during the Christmas holidays. The films are of interest to teachers since they show the experimentation which has been carried on in England.

The reels were shown on "Hypocyclic Motion," two were on the subject of "Well Known Differential Equations," and one on "Involute Gear Teeth."

Refreshments were served by Wilma McAbee and Alice Martin.

Knowledge of the language, and for this reason, Dr. Bussell feels that a groundwork for further study should be laid in the high schools so that time would not be spent on fundamentals in college. Then, too, those who are not fortunate enough to attend college will have a possible understanding of the language.

According to material sent to Dr. Bussell, five high schools in South Carolina this year have added Spanish to their list of courses offered. She offers this as proof that Spanish is beginning to be looked upon as an important, if not a necessary, our colleges to give a thorough study.

As your vacation draws near and you prepare to leave the campus and Rock Hill for your homes all over the State, the merchants and business men of Rock Hill, your second home, take this opportunity to wish you the happiest time ever and to hope for your return in the New Year refreshed and renewed for the months ahead. Dorms Dress For Holidays

By Earline McNeill

With the Christmas spirit filling the air, the dormitories are getting into the swing with decorations and plans for parties to be held Friday night before the Christmas vacation.

South girls lead the way in decorating the parlors and halls. Christmas trees, candles, and a life size place give their parlors a cheerful, home-like atmosphere. On the table is a manger scene, the clay figures for which are contributed by Helen Moss. A cup of tea is planned for next Friday afternoon between the hours of five and six.

Roddey parlors are decorated with Christmas trees, wreaths at windows, poinsettias, and sprays of holly. Today will begin its Christmas entertainment with after dinner coffee Sunday afternoon, to which Roddey girls and all visitors are invited. The following Friday evening will be the dormitory party, given in all group parties under the direction of the social chairman and aided by the freshman counselor.

Tree in Banquet
In Banquet's a large Christmas tree occupies a prominent position in the front parlor. Electric candles and my angels are at each window, and ever stars are placed on the window panes. In the radio room is an artificial fire-place hung with stockings. Each girl is expected to hang her stocking outside her room for Santa's visit. Carols are to be sung around the tree every night, except on Friday night there will be the dormitory party. Instead of exchanging the small customary gifts and giving gifts to the matrons, the girls and matrons have decided to give the fund to the Salvation Army.

North Has Jarmoney Scheme
North is carrying out a scheme where blue, black, and green in its dormitory decorations. In the parlor is a large Christmas tree, a silver corn bush covered with blue bells, and a silver tree trimmed with white lights. Over the front door is a garland of cedar filled with colored lights. In the center of the garden is a cedar wreath, a gum drop tree, sprays of cedar, and candles contribute the decorations. At the party, which is to be held Friday night, the girls and matrons have decided to present to give out the presents and give each girl a red sock of gift.

Reindeer and Santa
Brazee's larger parlor is decorated with a large Christmas tree, fire place, candles, and sprays of holly and cedar. The smaller parlor, which is turned into a blue room, has a small white tree and blue and silver candles. The entire lighting is blue. In the radio room, which is a reception room for Santa, is a small tree hung with toys and stockings. In the court are two lighted trees, near which is a bear-board Santa and reindeer, contributed by Jean Brown. Kathryn Rhodes is in charge of decoration for entertainment. Bizarre plans for a formal party in Johnson hall next Friday night.

TOGS and TRAPPINGS

By BETTY WANNAMAKER

In just a little while it will be bookworm hair butting and now about your hair during the holidays—going to, try a new hair do? For the sake one, why not try sleek rolls all the way round—but to express your soaring spirits try the piquant pompadour. Ornaments from bows to butterflys are worn stop your curls.

Cardiory, a still long standing favorite of collegians is right in the height of fashion. A honey colored corduroy jumper with a pale green blouse makes a striking combination. Dot Bryant wears a rose jumper with baby blue jersey blouse.

Shoes are still footloose for fall—toss out! You'll walk on wood with waders, heels and matching hose and you may even turn into a Cinderella with whole shoes of plastic glass. Have you seen Ed Napier's shoes of black suede and contrasting heels? They're smart!

Striving the althogether seems to be what the new coats are doing this year and for sport and casual wear Martha Howell has just the Debuting and members seem to go hand in hand for the Dixie tour. Her ment was highlighted last Friday by a formal card dance in Johnson hall.

Janie Ward looked like a real blushing bride in yellow taffeta caught up in the front with flowers and a yellow Juliet cap atop her curls. Clio Lawmire, president of the Dixie tournament wore pink net with a pink lace top. Pauline Lave danced in black velvet skirt and a red velvet jacket. Frances Payne looked her loveliest in a flared-off the shoulder violet taffeta with white carnations trimming the neckline. Debaters from Bridgewater, Pennsylvania said they wanted their nations led with blue ribbon as was the Dixie! And still some more evening dresses. Anna Airheart wore white taffeta with rhinestone straps and pockets studded with rhinestones. "Smash" was there in a chiffon with rows of black lace and Sara Howie wore a black taffeta, the neckline trimmed with white lace.

The Citadel-Carolina classic was a cause for more evening dresses, sponsors, and dances and Edwinia Kyle was right there sponsoring for The Citadel. In a moss green suit and turban and carrying white carnations tied with blue ribbon she rode in a cream convertible.

Religious Group Is Addressed by Furman Alumnus

Horace Budding, formerly a student at Furman, who is now studying for the ministry spoke on "The Tree of Life," at the regular Sunday afternoon meeting of the Student Volunteers in Johnson hall.

Little Smyrl, vice-president, presided at the meeting and the choosing of a Christmas family was discussed. Mary Keaton, Bernice Strop and Becky Fogle were appointed to make arrangements.

Frances Williams, Frances Clifton, and Becky Fogle, accompanied by Vivian Major sang "The Lord is My Shepherd" and "Have Thine Own Way."

Anderson Announces Contest

A free Tatter is waiting for the girl who submits the ten best pictures in the Tatter snapshots contest, says Caroline Anderson, yearbook editor. The contest is open until the end of first semester, and pictures that are typical of Winthrop life may be entered.

Photograph Editor Ann Durbin asks that informally be stressed in the snapshots, which may be brought to the Tatter office or given either to Ann or Caroline. It is urged that as many entries be submitted before the holidays as possible, even though they may be incomplete.

The posters advertising the contest were made by students in Miss Crystal Theodore's fine arts class.

Library Adds Stacks on Second Floor

The reading room in the library above the present stacks has been moved in order to make way for new stacks which are going to be constructed on second floor.

The downstairs stack room will be duplicated on second floor. The books have been moved downstairs on temporary shelves until the upper tiers are completed.

The library was built to accommodate 250,000 volumes but the crowded condition in the stack room necessitates more shelf room.

At present the library contains approximately 60,000 books in the stack room and 11,000 government documents on the ground floor.

'ALL THINGS BEING EQUAL'

When South Carolinians do their shopping across the line in the Tarheel State, regardless of what the purchases may cover, they are paying a sales tax into the Treasury of North Carolina.

If you live in a South Carolina town and cannot find what you are seeking in the way of merchandise, why not go to another South Carolina town where you may be able to find your needs instead of across the line into another State, possibly pay more for the merchandise and on top of it, a sales tax.

South Carolina merchants and others having things to sell pay a large part of the taxes in South Carolina, which, of course includes York County merchants who also pay a large part of the taxes collected by the County and the incorporated towns in this County, and it is only fair that all things being equal, York County merchants should be given an opportunity to fill our needs not only at Christmas-time but throughout the year.

Patronize home folks. If your own merchant cannot fill your needs, buy in York County. If the people of this great County would do every dollar's worth of their shopping at home at all times, all things being equal, York County would become one of the most prosperous counties in the Carolinas. By trading in your own County, you help yourself. Trading in another State, you are not only depriving your home merchants of business to which they are entitled, but you are helping to pay taxes for the upkeep of another State. Let's be South Carolinians!

Sports and Fun on the Campus

Christmas holidays

Just around the bend.

Only eight more days

To hand term papers in.

And to do all the other last minute "musts" before Christmas. Not to forget the pleasant interference of Christmas parties, carol singing and programs of the last week here. Everything seems to come at once. But we have no objections to being very busy this week—it'll make the time pass more quickly.

On The Go

Are most Winthrop lassies these days, especially on week-ends—to Charlotte, home or Columbia to finish up their shopping list. And even though we don't do so much shopping, we love browsing around among the throngs of those who do—seeing what others are getting and wistfully wishing.

Carolyn Nicholson, we notice, is already mailing Christmas cards. Which reminds us that there are really only 12 more days till Santa's scheduled visit, and we won't be home until the last two of those, so perhaps we should all get busy.

Caroling Again

Prevails over the campus each night. "Jingle Bells" with sound effects on the glasses has splited supper time, and carols have replaced the regular blessing, which, along with the lighted tree on front campus, the decorations in the dormitories, and worried about what to give whom, has ushered in the real Christmas feeling.

Strolling

On the campus again were dates last Sunday. It was such a lovely December day that everyone felt a longing for the open spaces and sunshine. And it looked almost like spring to see so many boys here. Notably represented were Carolina, Wofford, Clemson and Furman.

Not to forget the familiar torso of Banks McFadden, the Clemson-Great Falls football product who has been doing unusually well with the Brooklyn Dodgers this season. And did Aggie Rigby look happy!

Strikes

Are not uncommon in the bowling alley these afternoons and evenings. With new balls that actually roll and don't klunk down the alley and new duck pins that actually sit up, the game is much more fun. For proof of that try to get an alley late in the afternoon or after supper. You'll have to join the waiting line.

Victoriously

Did Carolina's Gamecocks end their gridiron season last week with their defeat of Citadel's Bulldogs. And seven of the squad wore garnet and black for the last time in that game.

And did Clemson's Joe Blalock end his junior season on the field when he was rated All-American end by the Hearst papers, the decision being picked by sports writers and experts all over the country. Joe is the only sophomore on the team and the second in the state to win the honor. Banks McFadden having been All-American back last year.

With Wintry Winds Blowing

And the hockey tournament ended, sports enthusiasts are turning to the gym for basketball. The freshman teams are lined up and eager for scrimmage. After practices every afternoon, weary maidens trudge forth in search of nourishment and rest.

At Davidson, their always-god eager are again drilling hard after their first clash with Union Theological Seminary last week—Erskine's courtmen are indulging in daily smir-mages—Wofford's Striders, showing a smooth passing set-up, are getting in terror for some real playing—and Clemson's basketballers are "putting out" for a 22 game season beginning December 13.

The Prize

For the biggest boner pulled last weekend is unquestionably earned by ye columnist, who broused off to Clemson for the weekend only to find that the main attraction there had felt the urge to wander and was here for the weekend.

And there was no consolation from Dr. Cooper (our host, roommate's uncle) who only gave this advice, "Men are as fickle as girls and almost as undependable. So you can bet he won't be lonesome over there." Take heed lassies. Since '29 Dr. Cooper has taught at the Clemson institute so he oughta know. And even at that we think he's taking up for them.

And Clemson, on a foggy Saturday night, isn't as romantic as one might think. The boys there looked as lonesome as the girls do here. Which again makes us wonder why the two schools aren't closer together.

Famous Alabaman Here Monday Night

FRANK THOMAS
Head Coach
ALABAMA

Frank Thomas, a prize pupil of the late Knute Rockne, now head coach of the University of Alabama, will speak at the annual football banquet of the Rock Hill Junior Chamber of Commerce in the college gymnasium Monday night at 7:30.

Guests for the occasion will include the Winthrop Training School and Rock Hill high school football teams, the South Carolina All-State high school team, and a number of visiting coaches and sports writers from over the Carolinas.

Coach Thomas, said by Harper Gault of the Evening Herald to be the most outstanding sports figure ever to visit Rock Hill, will be introduced by Jake Wade, sports editor of the Charlotte Observer.

While a student at Notre Dame, Coach Thomas played on the famous Rockne team with the Four Horsemen, and with George Gipp, called the greatest football player who has ever lived.

After graduation in 1923, he became assistant coach at University of Georgia. From there he went to the University of Chattanooga where he was head coach until, in 1932, he succeeded Wallace Wade, who went to Duke, as head coach at the University of Alabama.

The teams he has coached have made an amazing record. They have won 99 games, lost 17, and tied 6. Twice he has carried Alabama teams to the Rose Bowl, and has won for himself the reputation of one of the nation's most outstanding coaches.

Sophomores Place Five on All-College Hockey Team

Five sophomores, four juniors, and two seniors compose Winthrop's 1940 hockey varsity team, the mythical, all-star squad selected each year by team captains and managers, and Miss Marian Fugitt, hockey instructor.

Those chosen for the team and their positions are: Center forward: Elizabeth Mahon, junior from Greenville; Left Inner: Jean McNairy, senior from Laurinburg, N. C.; Right Inner: Lois Shuler, sophomore from Ellmore; Right Wing: "Sneezy" Sheely, sophomore from Columbia; Left Wing: Ethel Brown, junior from Anderson; Center Half: Anne Willimon, senior from Greenville; Right Half: Marjorie Hottendorff, sophomore from Clemson; Left Half: Dot Humphries, junior from Anderson; Right Fullback: Helen Edens, junior from Daltzell; Left Fullback: Marjorie Chaplin, sophomore from Ridgeland, and Goalie: Lois Rhame, sophomore from Camden. Only two of this year's team, Ethel Brown and Dot Humphries, made last year's varsity.

According to Miss Fugitt 85 girls received credit for a sports season in hockey, meeting a required number of practices for the sport during the season. All girls who make eight first terms and receive credit for 11 sport seasons are given W. A. A. pins. Sweaters are presented to the three seniors chosen annually by the athletic association board as the best all-round in the athletic association on the bases of sportsmanship, leadership, scholarship, and character.
